

Capitalizm and free markets are always better than socialistic type markets. If the consumer cannot turn into a seller, then how do companies start as well as competition grow. Thus all are rewarded in time through dilligence, not cleverness.